

W.1 Individual reflection - Desirée

I want to learn how to efficiently use and apply the SCRUM-model, because this is a completely new concept for me. Better knowing how to use it will probably be of big help during the course. This means I will be present in lectures and do my own research to gain as much knowledge as possible.

We haven't started any type of project yet, but I hope I can help my teammates by discussing roadblocks and suggesting solutions. Much of my knowledge is centered around customer value, leadership, creating motivation and so on. I am happy to share this knowledge!

My contribution going forward would be to actively participate in planning, programming and evaluating our project. I wouldn't mind taking on a particular SCRUM-role. In the first SCRUM-exercise I contributed by suggesting what to draw and tried to make it clear who wanted to do what so everyone had a task in our sprints.

My contribution to the team deliverables have been to show up to meetings and one of the SCRUM-exercises. Unfortunately I missed the Minetest, but got a great briefing from one of my teammates. Going forward I will be as helpful as I can in documenting, writing code and discussing potential projects.
