W4 Individual reflection - Jenny

What do I want to learn or understand better?

During this week I've gotten a better understanding of how to use Android Studio, as I've been working a lot with the GUI during this sprint. In the future I am excited and aiming towards learning even more about this tool and how to effectively use it in our project. To do this I am going to do more research on different features and watch some videos on youtube. I will also try to take on more GUI user stories going forward so that I can apply the new knowledge into my work.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

During the sprint I've been working pretty closely with my group members Desirée and Ida. While doing so I've tried to help when I can in understanding the different tools that we're using. I've also tried to explain what I've done if I have done anything on my own so that they knew what was going on. We've also been pretty good at co'learning, which has been very pleasant compared to just studying alone. In the future I will aim to work in a familiar manner and I hope that I will have the option to keep co-learning going forward as well.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

My contribution towards the usage of scrum has been to actively work during the sprint. I, as the product owner, also held the sprint review with our stakeholder to gather useful feedback on our deliveries.

Another thing I contributed with was making sure we noted down the velocity of the user stories in the beginning of the sprint, as well as our team velocity. This came in handy at the end of the sprint as we realized that we took on a bit too much work. Therefore we know that we should decrease the team velocity for our next sprint.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

My contribution towards the team's deliveries has been to complete three user stories, together with Ida and Desirée. For some reason my contribution doesn't show up on github though which is a bit unfortunate. The user stories that we completed were also tested and they fulfilled all acceptance criterias.

I also attended both meetings during the week and I was active during them by sharing my thoughts and opinions.
